A ROUND OF TALK.

The Codger's Lament.

I wish I had the appetite I had when I was young.
Somehow the things I eat to-day don't taste right to my tongue!
And hungry? Well, I guess that I've plumb stopped up the hole.
Them mother used to cater to with steamy, head-up bowl!
Along about 10 o'clock I'd first begin to feel.
My stomach cavity in its spots an' cryin' for a meal.
An' then for two long mortal hours I'd almost starve to death.
I'd wait for the dinner horn to blow its welcome breath.
An' when I reached our family board an' shov'ed up to my place—
Well, mother's cooking and them hole just had a awful race!
The eggs was golden brown on top, the taters mashed and sweet.
An' mother's bread—why, mother held the 'ull darned bak'ry beat!
An' I just gorged myself so full I almost burst!
Why? For an hour after that I didn't shut a' shout!
But somehow in the afternoon, along 'bout four o'clock,
I'd get as empty as an' limps paps old cotton sock.
I guess I never got filled up until I was a man.
An' lost my appetite for grub! Well now I sit and scan
The bill in French or German style an' grumble like the deuce!
They don't cook things 't eat no more; so, blame it, what the use?
I've been in Paris an' Berlin, I've it laked and bled,
But mothered 'em all beat out when I was a child!
If I could just a loaf a bread like that I'd be a home-bred.
I bet I'd have the appetite I had when I was young!

GOOD COUNTY.—At each successive term of the circuit court the fact is emphasized that Washington county is certainly one of the best counties in Kentucky for morality and good order. The records of the courts show very few indictments during the past few years for a felon and the docket is a light one as far as misdemeanor cases are concerned. There is not a single Washington county prisoner in the Kentucky penitentiary which is a record held by few other counties in the state. The last and only convict in the penitentiary from this county was the negro, Nad McChord who has just been released after serving a two years term for shooting with intent to kill. The number of convictions for the penitentiary from this county during the past fifteen years can be counted on the fingers of one hand they were all for short terms. Our county jail is empty of prisoners nearly all of the time and the files collected from violators of the town or state laws are by no means burdensome to either the town or the state treasury. Not only is there little doing in our criminal courts but the scarcity of suits and controversies in our courts of equity show that our citizens as a rule are pursuing the even tenor of their ways without indulging in bickerings and contentions with each other. This spirit of morality and benevolence among the people of the county is a little rough on the lawyers as it leaves them little to do, but it speaks well for the county. Every good citizen of the county should be proud of the record and should hasten to correct any false alarms which might be spread about our county being in danger of going to the "denomination howl." Washington county is all right and she will keep on coming if her citizens will stand up for her.

THE CAUSE.—Few people stop to realize the importance of co-operation between the farmers in a community like this and the merchants and citizens of the county seat and other small towns throughout the county. There has been a material advance in the value of farm lands in Washington county during the past twenty years. Does the farmer owe any improvement to the cause of it? It is certainly not due to any improvement in the fertility of his farm, for soil, as a rule, does not improve with age and wear, nor is this increase in value due to the work should commence before the telephone poles are placed. We register this kick at the suggestion of 333 taxpayers of town who are at our back—away back.

New Reason.

Lawrenceburg, Ky., June 3.—The Ben Hardin Helm Camp of Confederate Veterans was guest of honor of the Gas DeLanier Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy at memorial services held at the courthouse here, Capt. W. T. Ellis, of Owensboro, in an eloquent manner delivered the address of the occasion. He painted a striking picture of the broken and bleeding South at the close of the war and spoke feelingly of her gallant sons and heroes. He said that the South was defeated, but were herself out shipping the Yankees. The Confederate and Mexican monuments which adorn the public square were wreathed in garlands of select flowers, and the graves of forty sons of Anderson county who gave their lives on the altar of the South, were tanked in myriads of beautiful flowers. The Confederate choir, consisting of Miss Elizabeth Rout, Mrs. E. V. Johnson, Mary B. Rippy, D. L. McWhorter, William Atchison and Frank L. Atty, led by Mrs. W. H. McWhorter, rendered several selections.

COMPLAINTS.—Town and county officials are considered legitimate subjects for the knacker and if they don't want to hear the complaint of a complaining public they should rot themselves in that undesirable position. Just now the new city council is coming in for a good share of attention from the town knocker. Unfortunately the new council is showing signs of falling down in its reform package at the beginning of its administration. It was quite active in creating a dog law and other reform measures and in fixing salaries for its members, but in other matters pertaining to the town's affairs there appears to be a lack of interest. The residents in the south end of the town and all who have occasion to use Walnut street are out with a petition to the Mayor and Board of Councilmen to see if something cannot be done to remedy a bad state of affairs along that thoroughfare. Walnut Street is one of the principal residential streets of the town and it is largely traveled both by vehicles and pedestrians yet it is so narrow and so filled with obstructions that at times it is almost impassable. Its sidewalks are unsafe and unsightly, and the street itself is full of ruts and old broken down wagons and telephone poles. The telephone company is putting in some new poles, and probably in the absence of any town authority to otherwise direct, are putting the poles at places where they are dangerous to themselves, which may happen to be out in the street. The question of having Walnut street widened by inducing the property owners to move their fences back, was agitated some time ago and a few of them have done so. Others, we understand, have signified a willingness to do so if the matter is urged. The Council has passed an ordinance requiring the building of a sidewalk along Walnut street. If the ordinance is to be enforced the

The Wheat Belt.

R. T. Stone, a miller of Springfield, Mo., after making a daylight trip of 1,000 miles over the wheat area of Kansas, expresses his conviction that Kansas will not raise over 60,000,000 bushels of wheat this year. He allows Missouri 20,000,000 bushels, Texas 10,000,000 and Oklahoma 20,000,000 to 25,000,000 bushels. It is his opinion that Oklahoma is the bright spot in the whole situation. If his figures are correct, the total of these States will be 115,000,000 bushels, against 127,000,000 bushels a year ago. Corn may come in for a wallowing at the hands of the crop killer. Many fields did show signs of lagging, but the rains which brought relief to wheat also bettered conditions in the corn fields. Corn rat's underling strength in spite of positive predictions of a great increase in receipts. These may be an expansion of movements from first hands following the rains, but prior to them the farmers had back their grain. And it is pretty safe to say now that there is not going to be any stalling rush of corn any time. Incentives for heavy marketings have not been lacking, but the grain does not appear and stocks of the grain have been reduced to the lowest proportions known in years.—Ex.

SUES TELEPHONE CO.

J. Rich Smith and Others
Want the Cumberland Telephone Co. to take in their Line.

A case of interest to a good many citizens of the county came up before Judge Thurman in Circuit Court last week, was that of J. Rich Smith and others against the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Co. The plaintiffs in the action—J. Rich Smith and others—are made up of about ten residents of the neighborhood lying back of the St. Rose who have gone ahead and have put up a neighborhood telephone line. These people claim that they erected their line with the expectation of being connected with the Springfield exchange of the Cumberland Telephone Co., and that they have a promise to that effect from the telephone people provided they built their line within a mile and a half of Springfield.

The case was argued on a demurrer filed by C. C. McClure, attorney for the Telephone Co. Messrs. W. C. McClure and T. S. Mayes appeared for the plaintiffs in the suit. Judge Thurman after hearing the arguments overruled the demurrer. The case is set for trial on its merits Saturday. The result is of a good deal of importance as it will establish a precedent which will effect other independent lines. The Cumberland Telephone Co. is spending a lot of money on its system in this county and is completing Washington County will have a telephone system, equal to that of any county in the State. It is to be hoped that the differences in this case will be settled without any serious complications arising.

Following the Flag.

When our soldiers went to Cuba and the Philippines, health was the first consideration. W. L. T. Morgan, retired Commissioner, U. S. A., of Route 1, Co. 30, N. H., says: "I was two years in Cuba and 10 years in the Philippines, and being subject to colds, I took Dr. King's New Discovery for perfect health. And now, in New Hampshire, we find it the best medicine in the world for coughs, colds, bronchitis troubles and all lung diseases." Guaranteed at C. J. Haydon, druggist. Price, 50c and $1.00 Trial bottle free.

Many "Shiners."

A fight in which between thirty and forty shiners were fired, occurred near Hibernia, Green county, Tuesday afternoon between Revenue Officers Jeff Canfield and T. J. Parrott and several men for whom the officers had warrants on a charge of moon shining.

The men were indicted at the March term of the Federal grand jury, and the officers were at length to make the arrests when fired upon. The fire was returned, but with the exception of one man, Harvey Underwood the shiners escaped. So far as is known there was no one injured.

Underwood, who is about 27 years of age, was brought here Wednesday afternoon and tried before United States Commissioner Charles C. Holdrick. After hearing the case Commissioner Holdrick held Underwood in answer to the Federal grand jury in Louisville at its next October term.

Joe D. Wilson and Hilroy Johnson, also of Green county, were tried by Commissioner Holdrick Wednesday on the charge of operating an illicit distillery and were held to answer to the October grand jury in Louisville under a bond of $500. Each gave the bond and was dismissed.

Saturday last Revenue Officers Blades and Parrott brought to this city Robert Colyer, Charles Colyer, Henry Glicker and Cleve Colyer, all of whom had been arrested at Balltown, Nelson county, on a charge of setting up and ### operating an illicit distillery.

At the trial held the same day the men were held to the Federal grand jury under $300 bond which they gave. Fourteen arrests have now been made in the Balltown section within the past two weeks for moonshining, and all of them are the result of the raid made by revenue officers some time ago when seven illicit distilleries were destroyed within a radius of five miles.—Lebanon Enterprise.

Asthma Sufferers Should Know This.

Foley's Honey and Tar has cured many cases of asthma that were considered hopeless. Mrs. Adolph Buesing, 701 West Third St., Davenport, Iowa, writes: "A severe cold contracted twelve years ago was neglected until finally grew into asthma. The best medical skill available could give me more than temporary relief. Foley's Honey and Tar was recommended and one fifty cent bottle entirely cured me of asthma which had been growing on me for twelve years, and if I had taken it at the start I would have been saved years of suffering." ### Wants To Be In It.

The following letter forwarded to us by R. W. Hughes, Director of the Commercial Club, explains itself:

To The Louisville Commercial Club, Louisville, Ky. Gentlemen:—I notice in my old home paper, the News-Leader, of Springfield, Ky., a list of ex-Kentuckians and my name is not there and I want it to be there. As I fully intend to be one of them, as I was born and reared in Old Kentucky and Springfield is my home town. I have been away from there thirty-five long years. Now please let me know what to do in order to be numbered among the Home Comers.

Are Wild Game.

One of the most annoying things pertaining to a city residence is the liability to have flower and vegetable gardens ruined by the neighbors' chickens. At Newton, in one neighborhood was greatly pestered by the chickens of another, who thought that it was nothing to get a dog out to have a few dozen chickens digging in every soft place in the lawn and ornamenting his board walks. The pestered neighbor thought differently and shot some of the chickens. The matter went to law and was carried from court to court until it reached the Supreme Court of the United States. That body decided that a person has a right to his premises of all pest's such as chickens, when he does not want them there, and classes all such fowls as wild game liable to be killed by whoever wishes to do so.—Ex.

Fed Cattle on Sunday.

Owensboro Messenger: A novel case was tried a Saturday when Elza Edwards was tried before a jury on a charge of loading cattle upon a train on the Sabbath. Edwards, who is a well known cattle-fixer had completed arrangements to ship 132 head of cattle, expecting to get them off Saturday. His feed was exhausted Saturday night but no cars arrived. Early Sunday morning the delayed cars arrived and he went to work at once to load them. The city judge, C. W. Webster, heard of it and swore out a warrant for his arrest. He was brought before the court, where he demanded a jury. The jury returned a verdict a few minutes after retiring that Edwards was not guilty, and that he had acted in leading the cattle after his feed was exhausted. Dave Browning, a traveling lawyer who happened to be in Stanley, took Edwards' case without compensation. Nearly every resident of the town asked for the requital of the arrested man.

CATARH FROM CHILDHOOD.

Cured by Hyomel, the Only Medicine for Catarrh that the Red Cross Drug Store is Willing to Guarantee.

The popularity and growth of Hyomel are unique in the annals of medicine. The demand for the Hyomel outfit and the ex-rabbits in Springfield has been something phenomenal, and the Red Cross Drug Store say they have never sold any other remedy which gave such universal satisfaction and made so many remarkable cures.

The worst and most chronic cases of catarrh readily yield to the use of Hyomel. People who have suffered from childhood have been cured by this remedy. J. S. Nugent, treasurer of the American Union Insurance Co. of New York City, writes: "Hyomel has completely cured my daughter of catarrh from which she had been suffering for years." So many remarkable results have attended the use of Hyomel amongst the customers of the Red Cross Drug Store that they feel justified in using the strongest possible language in speak of its virtues, and when you read that they sell it under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure you, you will see that they fully believe in its curative powers. A complete outfit costs only one dollar; extra bottles 50 cents.

Blackburn Opposing Hager.

(Louisville Herald.)
In spite of repeated denials contained in press dispatches from Washington, The Herald has information from what is believed to be an authoritative source that Senator J. C. S. Blackburn will be the anti-administration candidate for Governor. It is learned that several members of the Kentucky delegation in Congress held a conference in Washington Wednesday and agreed to lend their support and influence to Senator Blackburn in the event that he becomes a candidate.

While Senator Blackburn has said that he was not a candidate for Governor, he has never said that he would not yield to the wishes of his friends and make the race if they so desired. On the contrary he said on one occasion that he would do the bidding of his friends, and if they thought he was the logical candidate to oppose Judge Hager and the machine he would abide by their decision.

It is known that Senator Blackburn and Senator McCrory were anxious to have Congressmen Ollie James make the race against Judge Hager, and they have not yet given up all hope of persuading the big Congressman from the First District to enter the race. Senator Blackburn would be only too glad to get out of the way of Mr. James, but the latter seems to be content to remain a member of the House of Representatives. It is in the event that Mr. James positively refuses to make the race that Senator Blackburn will consent to become a candidate.

Again, as usual, several tobacco burns have been noticed in this section, which means death in a few hours to hundreds of large forest trees, that have witnessed many centuries to reach the age of maturity.

W. F. Moran is quite ill at present of general debility.

Clyde Goatley recently purchased a 2-year-old gelding from his brother at $75.

Mr. Jas. L. Moran recently

at Elm Hill.
Owing to the immense business,
Mr. Ham Pile, the local black smith and miller, of this place, has been obliged to run the mill at night in order to accommodate his customers in the day, as he cannot do the smithing and milling both in the day. Both enterprises have proven a success to him, as well as an accommodation to our farmers.

The many tobacco raisers availed themselves of the chance to set their tobacco during the recent season which is said to be the best yet this year. Most everyone completed setting their crop with the exception of several who had no plants to finish with. However the late set will be ready within a very few days, which will enable everyone to comply to the next season.

The out crop of this section which was thought to be a failure previous to the rain has begun to make a rank growth, and doubtless will prove to be a good crop yet if it remains seasonable.
The rain has also been much better since the rain and the yield will no doubt exceed expectations.

A very valuable colt belonging to T. W. A. Grundy received a very severe and probably serious wound upon its hind leg Friday.
However it is hoped it will recover shortly.

While enroute home from Mr.
W. S. Gibbs last week, a very valuable mare belonging to Mr.
Chas. Blanton, of Boston, had a sudden, yet serious attack of lock jaw near the store at this place. Every possible medical preparation thought to be well for her restoration was administered, but the mare died within several days, she was saved and after resting over night at the stall of Mr. Geo. Tucker, resumed her journey homeward.

A new and novel way of disposing of the many small insects which raid tobacco immediately after being set, yet one which may prove indispensable to the raiser is to take a small brush or shrub, and begin "shooting at either side and take row after row until the patch is worked over, and as the bugs will fly about, when the job is completed
all of them are out of the patch.
This plan seems foolish yet it is the man who pushes new ideas that succeeds.

You cannot induce a lower animal to eat heartily when not feeling well.
A sick dog starves himself and gets well. The stomach, once overworked, must have rest the same as your feet or eyes. You don't have to starve to rest your stomach. Kodo for Dyspepsia takes up the work of your stomach, digests what you eat and gives it a rest. Put it back in condition again. You can't feed with a disordered stomach. Try Kodo.

We have had frequent complaints recently from our subscribers on the rural route out of Williamsburg to the effect that they fail to receive the News-Leader.

sometimes for two or three days after its publication. The paper is put into the post-office here Wednesday night and is taken to Williamsburg by the carrier Thursday morning in time to be delivered to the rural route carrier on Thursday. If our subscribers do not get their papers on Thursday the delay is due to somebody's carelessness in handling the mail.

W. D. Claybrooke and Will Sealeman while "investigating" affairs on the old Lincoln place near town explored an old grave where it is believed that a daughter of Thomas Lincoln, an older sister of Abraham was buried. Several broken pieces of what appeared to be a head stone were found and on one of these was a trace of the letter "N." Old inhabitants say that it was generally believed that the grave holds the remains of the first born of Thomas Lincoln and Nancy Hanks Lincoln, who died while quite a child and whose name was Nancy.

Roy Beasley who was in the employ of a feather renovating concern was badly hurt in a runaway accident on last Thursday and is now lying at the Springfield Hotel with a broken leg and other injuries. Beasley was driving a feather wagon down the Lebanon hill when the horse became frightened at a broken shaft and ran away throwing Beasley and a colored man on the road. The injured man was first carried into the house of Mr. John P. Greene and physicians summoned who discovered that he had suffered a fracture of the leg and was badly cut and bruised about the head. He was afterward removed to the Springfield Hotel. Mr. C. M. Rice proprietor who was acquainted with Beasley wrote to the man's two brothers one in business at Stanford and the other at Lancaster telling them of the unfortunate condition of their brother. Mr. Rice has received a letter from one of the brothers saying that he could do nothing for him. The wounded man is without a cent and unless some of his people who are said to be well to do come to his aid will be an object of charity.

TO INVESTIGATE. Going to conflicting reports and rumors concerning the death of Marion Lewis who was reported as having drowned while swimming in Chaplin river last week the Grand Jury has opened an investigation of the affair. According to reports the young man was not drowned at all but was killed by the explosion of dynamite which was being used by the party to kill fish. No inquest was held over the body at the time and the remains were quietly buried. It has been reported that the body of the young man was badly mutilated and many bones broken. Another thing which is regarded as a suspicious circumstance is the report that the hole of water where the drowning is said to have occurred is only two or three feet deep. Members of the fishing party came in and testified before the Grand Jury and confessed to being guilty of sealing but it is said did not mention using dynamite. An investigation is being made and the county coroner has been ordered to examine the body of the unfortunate young man and look for evidence to sustain the charges that he met his death in a manner other than was at first reported. The members of the fishing party are well-known citizens of the neighborhood and it is said that young Lewis' father was one of them. No suspicion of an criminal intent in connection with the young man's death is entertained, but the authorities wish to investigate the matter fully and to determine if possible the exact manner of his death.

LINCOLN HISTORY.

Some Facts Published Years Ago About Lincoln's Birthplace.

In view of the controversy concerning the birthplace of Abraham Lincoln, the following which was published in the Louisville Times twenty years ago, will be of interest. The clipping is from the scrap book of Mr. Tom Tatum of this county.

"Mr. R. J. Brown in a talk with a Louisville Times reporter Tuesday said:

"I was born in 1819 about five miles from Springfield, Kentucky west of Washington. My earliest recollections are of going to school to an old surveyor, Samuel Williams, who had a school house on the banks of a creek called Linkhorn's or Lincoln's Run. I was so small at the time that I was carried to school by an old negro man on horseback. We were shown a house near the creek at the bottom of a hill, where Abraham Lincoln, the President's grandfather was killed."

"I was told that old Abraham Lincoln was killed one day before the repeal of the law of primogeniture, hence all his property went to Mordecai, his oldest son. That would account for the poverty of Thomas Lincoln, the father of the President. When he married Nancy Hanks he was very poor, and the young couple lived in extreme poverty. Mrs. Thompson, mother of Squire R. M. Thompson, told me that she and her cousin, Nancy Hanks, were brought out of Virginia when very young girls to their grandfathers, Richard Barry Sr., who lived on the banks of the Beech Fork in Washington county, and that on the way through the Cumberland Mountains, while crossing a stream on a log, the Indians crept upon the party and captured her, the rest of the party escaping to Washington county. Mrs. Thompson remained with the Indians until the Greenville treaty was signed, and then her grandfather went after her and took her back to Washington county."

"A good many years ago P. H. Hooker, county clerk of Washington county, found the marriage license of Thomas Lincoln and Nancy Hanks, and showed them to me. I got a copy of this license and certified return of the same and forwarded them to Gen. B. B. Bristow, who had them published. It was in this way my name became known in the matter."

"Abraham Lincoln, President, first became known to the residents of Washington county as a member of Congress from Springfield, Ill. John H. Thompson, of Washington county, was a member at the same time, and he told me that one Abraham Lincoln sought his acquaintance saying he wanted to meet the member from Kentucky representing Washington county, as that was where he first came from."

"Old Mr. James Thompson and William Hardesty told me many years ago that they were at the marriage of Thomas Lincoln and Nancy Hanks at old Dick Barry's, the grandfather of Nancy Hanks, on the banks of Beech Fork, near what was called Mattingly's Mill now called Beechland Mills. I first heard it from James Thompson, who also told me a story of the punishment he got at home for going to the wedding, he being a small boy and of course not being invited.

"Mr. Hardesty told me he remembered Abraham Lincoln as a very small boy; that he lived in Berry's house, and that his father and mother were married, and soon afterwards moved away into Hardin, county, Ky. And from Mr. Lincoln's inquiry while a member of Congress from Illinois, through our Congressman, Mr. Thompson, the residents of Washington county recalled him and his family as being the old Lincoln family of early residence in Kentucky."

"I have no doubt that Abraham Lincoln was born in Washington county, and at the time of the death of our old President there was not the question of a doubt of Washington county being the place of his nativity. Old Mrs. Thompson had no doubt of it and she was a cousin of Nancy Hanks, Abraham Lincoln's mother. William Hardesty was ex-district attorney of the correctness of it, and would allow no doubt, and his son John was the predecessor of Abraham Lincoln as Representative in Congress from the Springfield, Ill., district."

"I am also confident that the old cabin that you speak of is the same one in which Nancy Hanks and Thomas Lincoln were married. I mean the upriver end of the cabin, the other part is a later addition. I know Squire R. M. Thompson of Springfield, and a finer gentleman never lived, but I think he is mistaken in thinking that Lincoln's parents moved to Hardin county before President Lincoln was born."

"The President always spoke kindly of his Washington county kin, and I think the first commission he ever made out was to his cousin, Robert Lincoln, son of Mordecai Lincoln. I've been told that he said after he was elected: 'Well, Bob, now I'm President of the United States. You've always been a good friend to me, and now you shall have any place I can give you.' Bob thanked him, and said he would like to be Postmaster of a certain town in Illinois, and I think that was the first commission made out by President Abraham Lincoln."

FOR THE CHILDREN

In and Out of a Fix. A good mother is known as "getting into a fix" and out of it."

Give the players ten minutes or so to think of some sort of predicament "in a fix." Then cut one and let each one write a story involving some one in the fix that he has thought. Gather up all the stories and then distribute them so that no one will receive his own paper back. Now let each player to think up and write on a separate sheet of paper a way to get out of the fix that he has described. Then each one must pass his paper to his left hand neighbor and taking the paper handed him by his right hand neighbor, must devise a way out of the fix he has described on that paper, and so on until all papers have passed through each player's hands.

Then, gathering up the "fixes" once again, you may read each one in turn aloud and ask each player to read from his paper the way he suggests for getting out of the fix.

One fix, for instance, was thus described: "Coming out of my house one day I caught my dress in the front door, which was equipped with a spring lock. There was no one around to ring the bell for me, nor could I reach the bell myself. What was I to do?"

Another answer: "Cut off the piece of your dress that was caught."

Another: "Unfasten your skirt and slip out of it. Then ring for admission."

A Different Wonder. "Why don't you study your reading lesson, Frances?" That little lady's father asked severely.

"The words are so hard to pronounce, papa," replied the small student. "I don't believe you can say them yourself."

"Oh, nonsense! Spell the words and divide them into syllables."

Then the spelling began. "C-e-a-s-e. What's that, papa?" "Grand, grand. What's that?" "Grand, grand. What's that?" "Grand, grand. What's that?"

"Why, for of course, Go on."

NEW SHORT STORIES

A Silk Hat Job.

The late Senator William, owner of the Washington Post, came to Washington as a member of congress and led a good many political friends in Ohio.

He was in his office one day several administrations ago when a very severe storm came in. He was ragged and dirty, unshaven and generally woebe-haved, he said, "I am down and out, I have lost everything I had, and I want you to get me some kind of a job."

Wilkins looked the man over, and found he was a lawyer who had done him some service in Ohio. He said he would do what he could, but that he must make you presentable," he continued.

They went to a barber shop where the man was shaved and had a hair cut and a bath. Then Wilkins took him to a clothing store and bought him a complete outfit—frock coat, high hat, gloves, shoes, shirt, collar and everything he needed. The change was marvellous. The Ohioan looked distinguished and prosperous in his new rig.

Next morning Wilkins took his friend to the White House and introduced him to the president. He told the president that this man had been of much help to him and he wanted to get him into a place, thinking he might secure a clerkship of some kind.

"All right," said the president. "I will make you chief justice of one of the territories."

"Oh, no!" stammered the surprised Ohio man.

"Shut up!" commanded Wilkins, and the fellow, who was made, and the man served out his term. Wilkins said he got the place solely on his high hat.

As he has not been in the house since the first day of the session, when he accepted the post for a few minutes, his arrival created great excitement.

What the Navy Needs. The tone of the naval personnel depends almost entirely on the higher officers, those of command and flag rank.

The ideas which they hold up to the younger officers are the ones that are eagerly followed. In the decade following the civil war, when Admiral Porter was supreme, this ideal was the bold sailor who carried cannon till it blew away.

As Commodore Foxhall Parker said a little later, "Not to talk of sea, but to be a sailor, is the opinion of most officers." As a result the middle-class "talked and thought" continually and exerted every effort to become sea-men.

One would expect that if no officer with actual engineering training is available the one detailed would at least be a man of considerable experience and shown from near the top of the list of those on whom to rely.

In many cases the exact reverse is true, and the untrained chief engineer is one of the junior with scarcely any experience of any kind. The unfortunate and why is in charge of the Benetton's machinery was next to the lowest consideration—W. M. McFarland in Engineering Magazine.

Prehistoric Tracks. Of more than unusual interest are the old prehistoric "bad tracks" of the Connecticut valley, to which active sportsmen or students of natural history, signs of what is called the triassic period, says J. E. Hilditch in his recent issue of the New York Herald.

Just outside the city of Holyoke, Mass., between the old road and the new state road to Northampton, there is a patch about 50 by 100 feet which has been cleared of all surface earth by parties interested in geology and which is now protected by a fence.

This patch is completely covered with well defined tracks and most of which will measure twelve to fourteen inches in the longest parts and eight to ten inches wide, while in depth they are from one to two and sometimes half inches.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE. Moths in Carpets. Take the carpet up and beat it thoroughly, to remove all dust and such moths as may be. Then take a mixture of spirits of turpentine and water, about one pint of turpentine to a gallon of water, and with it sponge the carpet carefully on both sides, changing the water as you go.

You will find that this will kill the moths, but the thing to do is to examine the carpet thoroughly with hot water and steam, and then to wash it with cold water and soap, and then to dry it thoroughly with hot water and steam.

When the room is well aired, and the carpet is dry, and the moths are dead, and the carpet is clean, and the room is fresh, and the carpet is soft, and the room is bright, and the carpet is warm, and the room is comfortable, and the carpet is healthy, and the room is happy, and the carpet is content, and the room is at ease, and the carpet is at home, and the room is at peace, and the carpet is at
